POLICE CHARGE MOBS AS UNEMPLOYED MARCH IN LONDON

BRITISH COTTON FOR INDIA

Lancashire To Increase Trade.

PIECE GOODS EXPANSION.

London, To-day.

The outcome of the suggestion made by the Maharaja of Newa-nagar prior to the Ottawa Conference was an important meeting in Manchester on Monday to consider a scheme to restore and increase the Lancashire trade in piece goods with India.

It was contended that Lancashire must copy the policy of the Indian and Japanese mills and finance such business as that passing between Britain and India through shippers allied to the proposed Anglo-Indo Corporation. With limited capital the general idea is that Lancashire should have her own agents in India, acting in unity with the Indians who distribute the manufactured goods direct to the Indian customer, thus eliminating the heavy overhead distribution charges which is now met between the loom-cost in Lancashire and the cost to the Indian consumer.—Reuter.

CHINA SITUATION SEEMS EASIER.

Fighting Reported In Parliament.

London, To-day.

A statement on the general condition in China was made by Foreign Under-Secretary Capt. Anthony Eden in the House of Commons yesterday. He declared reports are at hand of hostilities in Szechuan and Shantung. In Shantung, the city of Chefoo had changed hands, having been occupied without great disturbance by the forces of General Han Fu-chu, Chairman of the Provincial Government.

Fighting continued elsewhere, but no danger to British life or property was expected.

Some improvement appeared to have been effected in the Communist situation in Central and South China during the past few months and military operations had succeeded in driving the Communist forces to a distance from Hankow and in partially clearing the Hankow Valley. Normal conditions had not yet been restored along the Peking-Hankow Railway, however.—British Wireless Service.

SOVIET INFLUENCE IN MANCHURIA.

Japanese Press Makes Accusations.

Harbin, To-day.

The Japanese newspaper, "Harbin Times," alleges that shortly before the mutiny at Manchuli, popular military restaurants were opened up there by Chinese immigrants from Russia and that when the mutiny occurred these immigrants, together with several Russian immigrants, became machine-gunners for the mutineers.

The paper also alleges that the political department, attached to the mutineers' headquarters, discarded the occupied territory with slogans such as "Away with the Capitalists," "Welcome the Communists," "Welcome the workers of the world," and "Workers of the world unite."—Reuter.

Elections in Germany have been frequent this year and in ten days' time the German voters will be called upon to go to the polls for the third time within six months. Police are harassed during election campaigns and the above picture shows a motor-cycle squad outside a political meeting hall.

SEAMAN HELD FOR ASSAULT UPON WOMAN

Charged With Attacking European Lady.

ARRESTED IN HOTEL.

Arrested in the Peninsula Hotel last night, Able Seaman William George Bugler, of H.M.S. Keppel, was brought before Mr. H. R. Butters, in the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. Detective Sub-Inspector Elston appearing for the prosecution.

Bugler was charged with an alleged assault on a European lady, and secondly, with loitering at the Peninsula Hotel last night. Accused was remanded in Naval custody till Tuesday, November 1, at 10 a.m.

Silver Rises But Dollar Unchanged

Pound Declines To $3.28 On New York.

MARKETS ARE TRANQUIL.

In spite of the sharp rise in silver prices, the local dollar remained unchanged this morning after its advance to 1/4 1-4. A further drop in the pound is reported.

When the Stock Markets in London closed yesterday, the leading British Stocks showed but a slight change on the day. The activity was average.

Spot silver, quoted this morning at 18 1/2 shows a rise on yesterday's price of 1/2, while the forward quotation of 18-3/16 shows a rise of 5/16 since yesterday.

Both the New York and London and the London and New York cross rates were quoted this morning at 2-63/8, as against yesterday's quotations of 2-63/8 and 2-63/8 respectively.

The New York Stock Market experienced a quiet day yesterday, only 700,000 shares changing hands. Utilities, rails and industrials all showed a slight improvement, the latter rising 5/8 to 61-3/8, while the market as a whole rose 1/4 to 22 1/4.

The market, as yet, denotes little beyond a "small trading rally" and indicates no immediate standpoint. A policy of laissez-faire, buying should be followed, it is believed, as the market is still in a state of uncertainty.

Perth, To-day. The M.C.C. touring eleven, who had scored 359 for the loss of three wickets against the Combined Australian XI at the close of play on Wednesday, added 80 runs yesterday morning before lunch for the loss of a further wicket.

"Wally" Hammond (37) and Leslie Ames (15) were the overnight not out batsmen after the dismissal of Herbert Sutcliffe (169), the Nawab of Pataudi (129) and Leyland (2).—Reuter.

MR. DAVIS CONSULTS THE PREMIER.

Last Minute Talk Between Statesmen.

Prior to his departure for Geneva, Mr. Norman Davis, chief United States' delegate to the Disarmament Conference, paid a farewell visit to the Prime Minister at the House of Commons this afternoon when he was accompanied by Mr. Herbert Morrison, Secretary of State for the Colonies. A conversation was held on the Disarmament question. Mr. Davis is expected to return to Geneva tomorrow.

TRAM BLOCKED WHEN CHINESE WALKS ABROAD

Sleepy Pedestrian On Peak Ascent.

CHARGED WITH TRESPASS.

The Peak Tramway service was held up for nearly a quarter of an hour yesterday afternoon, through a Chinese man who strolled along the track from the Peak on his way to town. The incident occurred between May Road and Barker Road, and the 1.50 p.m. tram from the Peak had to apply its emergency brakes to avoid hitting the man. The up-going tram was simultaneously held up.

The man, Kung Pun, a cook of 7, Wing Lok Street, was arrested and taken to the Gough Hill Police Station, was charged and released on bail of $250.

Kung Pun appeared before Mr. Schofield in the Central Police Court this morning, charged with trespass on the tram track and with obstruction. His Worship was informed by Sub-Inspector W. R. Chester-Woods that Mr. O. E. C. Marton, of Deacons, would be prosecuting and the case was adjourned until the afternoon.

The bail, said His Worship, seemed rather high. Inspector Chester-Woods—As a matter of fact it is very high. But those were Mr. Marton's instructions.

Mr. Marton stressed three points—

(a) That a person, if allowed on the track, might do damage to the track by being on it.

(b) Passengers travelling on trams might suffer serious injury through damage done to the track, or through the emergency brake having to be applied.

(c) Damage to the cable by reason of the terrific strain put upon it. It might also be twisted in which case it might be beyond repair, and the Company would incur heavy financial loss.

Mr. Marton asked for a heavy penalty to be imposed owing to the gravity of the offence, so that it should act as a deterrent to others. (Continued on Page 12.)

NEW NAVAL C-IN-C APPOINTED.

Vice-Admiral Sir Wm. Fisher.

London, To-day.

Vice-Admiral Sir William Fisher left London yesterday for Malta where he will take over as Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet.—British Wireless Service.

Vice-Admiral Sir William Fisher, K.C.B., C.B., C.V.O., M.V.O., entered his seafaring career in 1888 as a naval cadet, and became a naval officer two years later. Promotion came rapidly and after attaining the rank of Commander in 1906 he was appointed Captain in 1912 and to Rear-Admiral in 1922. He served actively throughout the Great War from 1914 to 1917, and was Director of the Anti-Submarine Division during the last year. Since then he has been attached to the Atlantic and Mediterranean Fleets, and in 1927 he was promoted to Vice-Admiral.

RIOTING QUELLED AT HYDE PARK

MOUNTED MEN CLEAR MARBLE ARCH AREA

FEW INJURED IN CROWD

LONDON, TO-DAY.

THE UNEMPLOYED HUNGER MARCHERS, WHO HAVE INVADDED LONDON, CREATED THE FIRST DISTURBANCE OF THEIR CAMPAIGN YESTERDAY WHEN, WHILE MEETING IN HYDE PARK, SMALL GROUPS OF RADICALS COMMENCED THROWING STONES AT POLICE OFFICERS NEAR THE MARBLE ARCH. THERE WERE FEW ARRESTS AND NO MORE THAN A HANDFUL OF SLIGHTLY INJURED IN THE CROWD. A POLICE CHARGE CLEARED THE STREET, MOUNTED MEN SCATTERING THE MOB.

Meanwhile, Parliament heard the appeal of Labour members for immediate discussion of a measure for relief of the unemployed. A petition is being prepared to obtain the hunger marchers a hearing at the bar of the House of Commons, on the suggestion of the Speaker.

The first disturbances since the arrival of the hunger marchers broke out in the West End of London in the vicinity of Marble Arch yesterday in consequence of a demonstration in Hyde Park by 2,000 unemployed men from various parts of the kingdom, also walked here in protest against the Means Test and the Government's economies.

The principal scene of disorder was at the junction of Edgware Road and Oxford Street, where shopwindows were broken and a huge crowd assumed a hostile attitude when police made arrests.

Mounted police charged and were also kept very busy dealing with minor disorders at other points. Three were arrested elsewhere. (Continued on Page 7.)

CHINESE GIRL STIRS ENGLISH TENNIS CIRCLES

Miss Hoahing's Promise At 10 Years

A NIECE OF DR. HOAHING OF HONG KONG

Local people will be interested to learn that little Miss Gem Hoahing, a picture of whom appeared in yesterday's edition of the China Mail for winning in the First Round of the Girls' Singles Lawn Tennis Championship at Devonshire Park, Eastbourne, Sussex, is the niece of Dr. Martha Hoahing, who has been a practitioner in Hong Kong for the past five years.

Dr. Hoahing in an interview with the China Mail said that both her parents are great tennis enthusiasts and that on retiring to England they had practically raised Gem on the tennis court. In addition to being a brilliant little tennis player, Gem is an accomplished dancer, and quite a formidable opponent at the game of billiards.

It is interesting to note that Mrs. Hoahing was the first Chinese woman to graduate from an English school of medicine, her mother being the second and Dr. Hoahing the third. (Continued on Page 7.)

Little Miss Hoahing, who is now only 10 years old, has already won many matches and is a very popular figure in the tennis circles of Eastbourne.

PRINCESS HELEN SENDS HER KING AN ULTIMATUM

Demands Company Of Son And A Palace.

THREATENS LEGAL ACTION.

Bucharest, To-day.

A twenty per cent. increase in her allowance, permission to spend six months every year with her son, Prince Michael, and the maintenance of a palace for her, are said to be the demands of Princess Helen made upon King Carol which, if they are not granted, she will attempt to secure by legal action.—Reuter.

Princess Helen's demands are believed to be the outcome of King Carol's order recalling Crown Prince Michael from his visit to London.

The former boy-king went to England to visit his mother, the Princess, now separated from the King. The visit was said to be by his father, but when King Carol perceived the manner of his son's life in London, how he was dogged daily by newspapers and the sad stories of his family's unfortunate affairs retold and freshly illustrated, he recalled his son to Bucharest.

King Carol, whose affection has been given to the colourful Madame Lupescu, and against whom both his wife, the Princess, and Queen Marie, his mother, have turned, has a new domestic tangle to unravel with the lawsuit threatening.

Princess Ingrid In England

Rumours Of Royal Romance Stirred

London, To-day. Princess Ingrid of Sweden arrived in London yesterday afternoon, having flown from Belgium, where she had been staying, to Croydon, in an Imperial Airways liner.

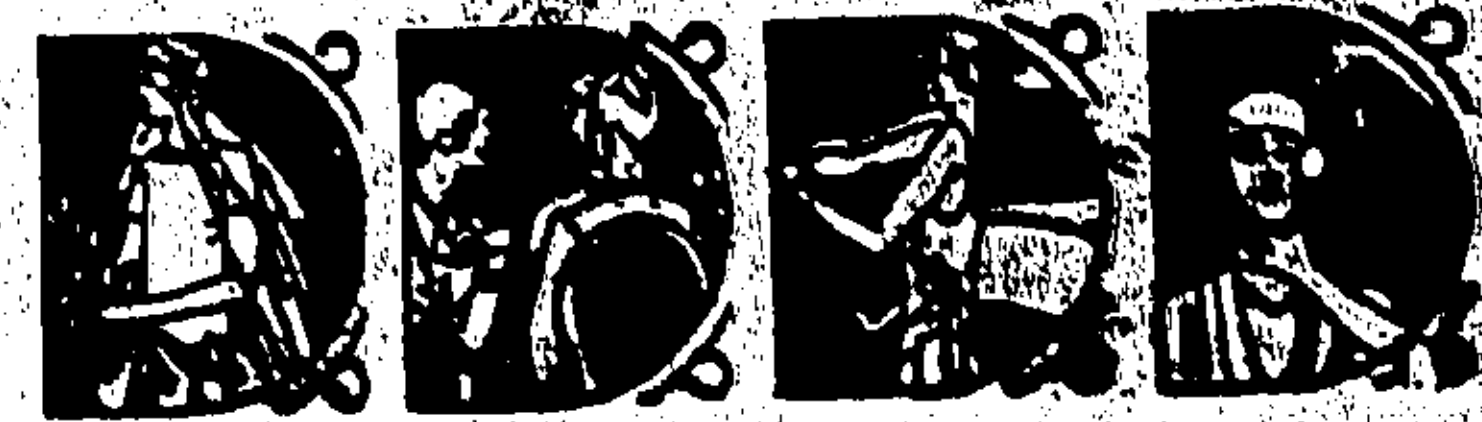

The Princess usually visits her grandfather, the Duke of Connaught, at least once yearly. Nevertheless, the recent rumour of royal romance has been stirred again.

When the Prince of Wales and Princess George visited Sweden, it was reported in England that the youngest of the King's sons was much attracted to the daughter of Sweden's ruling House. Now so soon after Prince George's return from visiting Sweden, the arrival of Princess Ingrid in London has stirred rumour. (Continued on Page 12.)

General Guller, the former Governor of the province of Västmanland, will visit the Princess Ingrid.

NEW STYLES IN JEWELLERY.

High Neckline Is Responsible.

With high necklines gaining in importance every day for evening, afternoon and general daytime wear, it is evident that necklaces will not be as popular as bracelets, earrings and rings. The evening decolette with the line mounting high in front and dipping low in back, provides an opportunity to employ a necklace with a pendant worn at the back. Pendant earrings for evening have pear-shaped pearls mounted on slender chains set with rhinestones. Throughout the collections of evening jewellery, delicate settings and fine, simple effects are the rule.

To be worn with daytime dresses with high cut necklines are choker necklaces of mother-of-pearl. Clips show some tendency to become longer and narrower; they are often worn on the edge of cuffs or at one side of the neckline. Brooches are beginning to challenge them in millinery.

Belts of metal are sometimes accompanied by matching necklaces, a new idea that has been much worked out by some of the Paris designers. The many forms of attractive Peking jewellery which is finding its way to Shanghai fills many sartorial gaps, and adds distinction and charm to the plain style dresses now in vogue.

WOMEN GOLFERS SPREAD LIGHT.

Seek To Extend Game Abroad.

The Ladies' Golf Union are making ambitious plans for Dominion tours as soon as economic conditions throughout the world show signs of improving. By charging judicious gate money at championship and other important meetings, they have gradually accumulated quite a respectable fund, which, in the best spirit of the game, they are proposing to devote to the furtherance of the sport the world over.

At present the British woman golfer believes she is supreme and, with the exception of the United States and France, there is no country able to put a team in the field capable of putting up a fight.

FASHION DECREES FOR AUTUMN.

Winter An Excuse To Wear Furs.

LEOPARD SKIN MUFFS.

One of the few compensations for winter is that we have a perfectly good excuse for wearing fur. One cannot help sympathizing with the women who prefer to spend their money on furs rather than jewellery.

Although jewellery lasts for ever and fur wears out in time, there is no doubt about it that a lovely fur is the most becoming thing a woman can wear.

There are a great many new ways of using fur this winter. Velvet coats and evening dresses in deep rich colours are trimmed with fur. A fuchsia velvet evening gown may have a short elbow-length cape edged with a dark baby fox.

Black broadcloth, afternoon coats are lined throughout with ermine, and each elbow has a muff of the ermine.

Leopard skin is used for small shoulder capes, muffs, collars, belts, and cuffs. A brown velvet afternoon suit, may have a short coat trimmed with brown astrakhan to match it.

In one well-known house there is a great deal of plush imitation ermine being used not only in white, but also dyed to look like the summer ermine.

On the whole, astrakhan and broadtail will be most popular as day furs, although beaver, nutria, and black seal will also be seen a good deal on cloth and woollen day clothes.

As a matter of fact, a really good fox, whether it is silver, red, blue, or white, makes the most becoming frame to a woman's face.

There is a new imitation wool astrakhan which is most effective when made into collars and cuffs on light weight woollen dresses.

This imitation fur is also used on sports suits, being dyed to match the material. In one case it is dyed green to match the suit.

Detachable fox collarettes tying at the back are sold with some of the suits, and can be worn with either the dress or the coat. Some woollen coats have scarf collars of fur tied with huge bows.

But there is no reason why golf should not be as universal as lawn tennis. Tours are projected to Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Canada, whilst favourable consideration will be given to any invitations which come to hand from European countries where golf is at present more or less in its infancy.

Harmonizing Make-Up

Lipstick, powder and eye shadows—if they are used—should, of course, harmonize in colour and perfume, and let your jewels be as carefully chosen. Choose your jewels to suit your make-up, is the rule of to-day.

For instance, diamonds are delightful with a make-up which aims at a sun-burnt hue, contrived with powder which is frankly golden, scarlet rouge, and lipstick. Pearls, on the other hand, are best with a make-up of creamy ivory, green eye-shadow, and rouge and lipstick with a hint of flame in it. Wear other jewels accordingly—bright jewels with bright cosmetics.

Never let the cords of electric appliances remain unprotected after they have become frayed and worn. Wrap the frayed area with adhesive tape as soon as signs of wear are seen.

BABIES ALL LOVE SAME TOYS.

Likes Do Not Alter In Centuries.

"SOMETHING TO PUSH."

For the two-year-old, "something to push" is a good rule, especially for five days when the garden or the park is the playground.

The old-fashioned dobbie, with his honest, barrel shaped body, his unlikely blue eye, his scarlet saddle, his obviously "cut" or "bunny" mane and tail, above all, with his handle of just the right height for pushing—he, I declare, is just as popular as ever.

Two years old is an age innocent of sophistication; it loves what two years old loved 50 years ago—and will love 50 hence. I confidently expect that the "2000's" A.D. will see those self-same barrel-shaped, wooden dobbies being turned out by the hundred for the delectation of the two-year-old of the future.

Another push-about toy for Miss or Master Two-year-old she is still somewhat young for a fullblown doll's pram and be not yet expert enough in the control of hand, and eye to manage a motorcar or a fairy-cycle—a light, lattice-work truck.

This has two little seats to accommodate the tattered and battered dolls proper to two years of age or the more manly Teddybear, or even a cargo of leaves and daisies. This truck has a long handle so that there need be no hurrying forward over it when it is being pushed about.

With two such push-about toys to ring the changes on, Miss or Master Two-year-old will play happily in the garden for the best part of morning or afternoon.—A.N.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS HAS CAPTIVATING MANNER

IMPRESSIVE FINALE TO "THE LOST SQUADRON."

"Amateur Daddy" A Film For Young And Old.

Such excellent description have been given of our famous visitor, Douglas Fairbanks, sen., that there is little for me to add—except that I have become one of his most ardent "fans." I like his firm handshake, and the direct way he has of looking at one, as though you were the only person that mattered. (Quite flattering to my sex). He has a keen, brown, eager, smiling face, and a perfect figure, although he looks taller in films than in real life. He was not up at 6.30 a.m. to see our beautiful city (as he explained afterwards, he was trying to make up for lost sleep after the marvellous hospitality of the Japanese and of people of Shanghai).

A kind stewardess took in our cards, and he sent out word he would see us as soon as he was dressed. By the bye, he eats a light breakfast.

The hour's wait was well worth while as we were greeted, so kindly, and when he finally emerged, he had handshakes for all and a cheery greeting. Where would we go? Oh, photographs? certainly. Up on the deck he introduced us to his party and talked in the most glowing terms of our city. Did we realise how lucky we were to be living here? Could he hear the latest American Football news before he left? Had he time to motor to Fanling?—No? Then what about Deepwater Bay and the delightful Repulse Bay Hotel? He is very easy to interview and talks easily on many subjects. Yes, Mr. Fairbanks is very proud that he comes from good, old, British stock—and he also mentioned that his wife was Crawford. He thinks, as I do, that ed of pictures, but said he had not made anything worth-while for quite some time. Occasionally he plays at it to please his "boss," Mary.

He predicts a grand future for British films, and adores England. He talked much of his son, Doug, and daughter-in-law, Joan Crawford. He thinks, as I do, that the California and Hong Kong are hard to beat. He does not think prohibition will go out all over the United States. He says that many Laws and Covenants should be repealed. "We are supposed to be one great middle-class—but we are NOT." "We are also supposed to be The Land of the Free, but again we are not."

Oh, you must see Mary's latest photo. Won't you all come down to my cabin? He has most obliging French valet, and the indispensable Secretary, Mr. Lewis, hovering around. He has attractive chintz covers on all the trunks, four gold clocks, and gold-ware on the dressing-table. Portable gramophone and heaps of records, magazines and books of every description, with boxes of cigarettes and golf-balls, such a man's room.

Three photos of Mary were there, the latest being a little gem painted on glass. He hardly touches on any subject that he does not mention his wife's name. She hopes to be out here in December with the Earl and Countess of Brecknock, Count and Countess de Prasno and Gary Cooper, and they hope to stay awhile here. Doug himself will be back after a short stay in Java.

When we said good-bye he gave a few of us signed photos, (a rare occurrence, I believe), asking our names, so that he could write appropriate messages on them. I regretted leaving this amazing man, his cheery smiling face makes the last letter for having known him. Such is his personality, you know. Grand artist, grand man, grand host. In Norma Shearer's first talkie, "The Sign of the Cross," and in George Barrand's "The Sign of the Cross," he played the part of the crook butler? He has returned to England, and we shall shortly see him in an original play by Ian Hay, "The Happy Ending."

"Is Everybody Happy?"

Well, well, why do they do it? Ted Lewis is in "Is Everybody Happy?" I saw it, oh, so long ago, in Hollywood. It dates back to the first Talkies. Still, it has entrancing music, Ted Lewis' famous Band, Anne Pennington, and a troupe of highly trained, pretty girls under the direction of Larry Ceballos. It may still hold some appeal. (Queen's).

"Wayward"

If you are desirous of seeing a bit of "East Lynne" and some other oldtime dramas thrown into one, then see "Wayward," Pauline Frederick as a domineering mother, Dick Arlen, the weak son, and Nancy Carroll the persecuted heroine. Followed by a film worth seeing "The Sky-ride," Dick Arlen and Jack Oakie starring with Mrs. John Gilbert appearing now and again. Then comes Roland Young, and others equally good in "This is the Night," highly recommended. A play I enjoyed, but which you either like or intensely dislike, is Lubitsch's production of "The Man I Killed"—Lionel Barrymore, Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes. All coming to the Oriental.

"To-morrow and To-morrow." Ruth Chatterton has done nothing better than "To-morrow and To-morrow." Then, too, Paul Lukas is superb, and the last picture made by Robert Ames gives us this actor at his best. They all live their characters. What artists they are! I know for a fact that the two leads, Chatterton and Lukas, were not even on speaking terms when this film was taken. How they revel in the parts. What sympathy! The story is a good one and the dialogue, is uncommonly fine. You are made to feel that the heroine's child is not the outcome of a vulgar affair, but just a natural yearning for motherhood. Paul Lukas as the scientist who meets the unhappy couple and falls in love with the wife, does outstanding work, but Ruth Chatterton just lives the character. To the smallest detail, this picture is perfection. See it twice to appreciate it. (King's).

"The Lost Squadron."

"The Lost Squadron." This is a good one, although the story is rather absurd. The finale is impressive, and throughout the film you are interested. A display of good direction and acting. Richard Dix, Joel McCrea and Bob Armstrong are the three heroes, with Dorothy Jordan and Mary Astor doing little, and of no interest to me. The story is an original one by Dick Grace. This man is the only surviving member of a little band of brave fellows who were earned by stunt flying for aviation films, and this story is the truth. Erich Von Stroheim plays the director, and is apparently just himself (except the part where he plots murder). I advise this film because the acting is above the average, and it is good to see Mr. "Cimarron" Dix again. It is original and an unusual aviation film. (Central).

"One Heavenly Night." I like "One Heavenly Night," and my biggest recommendation for it is that we have beautiful women, manliness, music and laughter. Leon Errol, the man from Australia, with a famous name on Broadway, is responsible for most of the latter. Evelyn Laye, the English beauty is not so at home as on the stage, but John Boles is so good, and their singing is a treat. Lilyan Tashman is her usual seductive self. Don't miss this enjoyable musical show. (King's).

"The Amateur Daddy."

A play for young and old, "The Amateur Daddy." Such a sweet heroine, Marian Nixon, and adorable hero, Warner Baxter. Not a great film, but just human. This will be followed by one of the gems turned out by Fox this year, and how the critics are raving about the Gaynor-Farrell team. They have not done anything so fine in the talkies, as in "The First Year." This is a masterpiece. Then along comes Victor McLaglen and Helen Mack in a sordid story of life in the underworld of Paris, "While Paris Sleeps." All due at the King's.

Star's Attractions.

If you missed the All-Variety programme at the Queen's, see it at the Star. Charlie Chase, an All-Colour Revue, and Laurel and Hardy, followed by a play wherein you can see acting as portrayed in the days of Sir Henry Irving, the good old-fashioned British drama, "The Lyons Mail," with Sir John Martin Harvey being impressive. Ah! But then we are recompensed with Joan Crawford and Clark Gable in "Possessed," one of my favourite pictures. Coming to Star.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP.

Notes From Here And There.
Carole Lombard has been lent to Warners to appear in a film with husband William Powell.
We are all at a loss to understand the law suit brought by Ronald Colman against his employer, Sam Goldwyn, involving $2,000,000. R. C. claims they tried to ruin his reputation by defaming his private character. Yet, he is to start work on "Cynara" in a few weeks time. I think it is a good bit of publicity for Colman, as he has been slipping in public favour, not doing the sort of film his "fans" like, and after all the artist is out to please the public. He will also do an original story

The More The Merrier

The really "all-star" cast idea, pioneered in "Grand Hotel," is becoming a habit with the Hollywood studios. The Fox Company announce a production, tentatively "State Fair," which will include in its cast "at least" Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, James Dunn and Sally Eilers.

wherein he portrays a submarine officer in a "U" Boat Yarn.
James Murray, remembered for his work in "The Crowd," has been given his "umpteenth" chance in "The Sign of the Cross." This actor is his own enemy, and if he falls again, he has only himself to blame.

Marian Nixon has been made a star through her excellent work in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." She has been lent to Paramount for "Madison Square Garden," with Thomas Meighan, Jack Oakie, and a grand cast.

Herbert Marshall has crossed the Atlantic eleven times.

George Raft is to star with Mae West (Diamond Lil) Wynne Gibson and Constance Cummings in "Night after Night."

Cary Grant will again play opposite Sylvia Sydney in "All My Love." They are now finishing "Madame Butterfly." Paramount has bought Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows."

Mary Pickford's great success "Tess of the Storm Country" will be done by Janet Gaynor and directed by Al Santell.

"No Man of Her Own" has gone into production at Paramount, starring Miriam Hopkins and Clark Gable. (Lent by M.G.M.).

Clive Brook will work at Fox in a Sherlock Holmes story.

Katherine Hepburn, a rich society girl who has made a name on the stage, is the daughter in "Bill of Divorcement." I wish they had given it to Frances Dee.

Lois Wilson and Conrad Nagel are with Lewis Stone and Jackie Cooper in "Father and Son."

Constance Bennett will be marvellous in "Rock-a-bye," they say. Ginger Rogers will soon walk up the aisle with the boy-director, Mervyn Le Roy.

Creighton Chaney, son of Lon, a son of Caruso, Noah Beery's son, and the only son of Wallie Reed, are all now in films.

ANN DVORAK GOES TO ENGLAND.

Multiplied Salary Brings Contract

London, Sept. 30.

Ann Dvorak, Hollywood's most brilliant star discovery of the last year, is on her way here to star in two British films at more than four times the salary she has been receiving in America.

She sailed on Thursday after a Transatlantic telephone talk with Michael Balcon, the British producer. She will go to Germany to play the lead, with an all-British cast, in "The Widow's Bed," the second Gaumont-British-Ufa joint production.

Leslie Fenton, her British husband, is accompanying her on this combined honeymoon and business trip.

After Berlin they will come to London to act together in a film to be made by Cecil Landau, the ex-night club owner recently turned film producer.

Ann went on strike in bankrupt Hollywood for higher pay. In "Scarface" she drew only $50, a week. In Britain she will have $200 a week.

The move, over starts a procession of Hollywood rising stars, attracted by the "almighty pound." The procession used to be the other way.

ROUND HONG KONG'S CINEMA THEATRES

MAIL REVIEW

"IS EVERYBODY HAPPY?"—QUEEN'S THEATRE.

Ted Lewis, famous "high-hatted" tragedian of jazz makes his screen debut in Warner Brothers' production "Is Everybody Happy?" now showing at the Queen's Theatre. Anne Pennington, Lawrence Grant and Julia Swayne Gordon support Lewis in this bright production which was directed by Archie L. Mayo, from the screen story by Joseph Jackson and James A. Starr.

"Is Everybody Happy?" for the most part, presents Ted Lewis just as he appears in real life—as a stage entertainer of a distinctly different sort. He sings three songs in the scenes laid in the Hungarian Cafe in New York City, in a charming manner. He has for years been one of vaudeville's most popular stars.

The supporting cast includes Alice Day, while Lewis's band gives the film a bright finishing touch. Recommended!

MAIL REVIEW

"TO-MORROW & TO-MORROW"—KING'S THEATRE.

Ruth Chatterton plays one of her most dramatic roles since entering pictures in Paramount's production "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," the current attraction at the King's Theatre. The film is an adaptation of Philip Barbery's play of a courageous, unconventional wife, which is portrayed with realism by Miss Chatterton, who has appeared in "Sarah and Son," "Unfaithful," and "The Doctor's Secret."

Miss Chatterton in "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" is seen in the role of a woman, who, denied motherhood by her sport-craving husband, Robert Ames, has a child by the doctor, played by Paul Lukas, who has analysed the effect of this deprivation on the woman.

Ames is efficient as the husband, while Lukas is excellently cast as the doctor.

Harold Minjir, Tad Alexander, Walter Walker and Winter Hall appear in the supporting cast.

MAIL REVIEW

"DEVIL'S LOTTERY"—MAJESTIC THEATRE.

An English Peer studies the reactions of Derby sweepstake winners in "Devil's Lottery," the Fox melodrama now showing at the King's Theatre, with Elissa Landi, Paul Cavanagh and Victor McLaglen in the principal roles. The film is original and quite entertaining, the supporting cast of players including Alexander Kirkland, Halliwell Hobbes, Beryl Mercer, Herbert Mundin, Ralph Morgan and Barbara Weeks.

Miss Landi portrays with distinction the role of a woman of questionable reputation. Cavanagh is seen as her crooked suave lover, McLaglen is a prize fighter, while Beryl Mercer portrays his Cockney mother, creditably.

"THE UNCONQUERED LOVER"—CENTRAL THEATRE.

A Chinese talking and singing production "The Unconquered Lover" is now showing at the Central Theatre. It has an all-star cast and was produced by the Tse Mee Motion Picture Company of Canton. The talking is in the Cantonese dialect.

MAIL REVIEW

"WAYWARD"—ORIENTAL THEATRE.

The old, old story of a struggle between two women for the love of one man is told in Paramount's talking production, "Wayward," which is having its initial screening in the Colony as the current attraction at the Oriental Theatre. Pauline Frederick, Richard Arlen and Nancy Carroll head a competent cast. The film is worth seeing.

MAIL REVIEW

"WEST OF BROADWAY"—STAR THEATRE.

John Gilbert, the screen's best lover, Lois Moran, Madge Evans, John Miljan and El Brendel all do good work in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest offering "West of Broadway," now showing at the Star Theatre, on its second local release.

The new picture portrays Gilbert in the role of a rich young man who returns from the war, broken in health, only to find himself jilted by the girl he left behind. In a drunken rage, he marries a charming little gold-digger and then finds he cannot buy her off.

HUGE CANAL CHAIN FOR MOSCOW.

Soviet Capital To See Great Development.

TWO CENTRAL HARBOURS

Moscow, Oct. 18.

The capital of the Soviet-Union will, it is announced, obtain a gigantic inland harbour between the rivers Moskwa, on which Moscow is situated, and the Volga. A huge system of canals will connect the Soviet metropolis with the Black and the Caspian Seas and will be large enough to permit ships of every size to discharge their cargo at the very doors of Moscow.

Work on the canals has been started, it is learned, and the excavation for the future Moscow harbour will commence shortly. Moscow harbour will, in fact, be two harbours; one, in the heart of the city, for small and more valuable cargo, like eggs, vegetables, milk, etc. being modelled after the Berlin harbour on the Spree, and the second, to be erected on giant dimensions, after the Hamburg prototype, a small distance away from the city, for piece cargo, coal, machinery and so on.

The construction of these harbours necessitates a considerable change in the Moscow traffic system. Streets and waterways within the city have to be enlarged, new bridges and godowns must be built. The authorities in charge of this huge project expect to finish this plan within three years. A number of German architects, engineers and waterway experts have already been engaged to participate in this important scheme.—Transocean Kuomin.

Greek And Turkish Minorities.

Ten years have passed since the Battle of Afium-Karahissar ended the dream of a Greek Empire in Asia Minor. Militarily the Turkish victory was an imposing success, the fruit of the patient strategy of the Ghazi Pasha and of his lieutenants, among whom Ismet Pasha held the highest place. Its political and ethnographical consequences were even more important. One was the Treaty of Lausanne, which made a definite, and so far as statesmen could foresee a final, political division of the territories to which Greeks and Turks laid claim. Another was the Convention signed at Lausanne by Ismet Pasha and M. Venizelos which provided for the compulsory exchange of the Greeks of the New Turkey for the Turks of the New Greece. There were large Greek minorities in Thrace, in Ionia, and on the Black Sea coast. On the Greek side the Turks were a strong element in Macedonia, and there were Moslems, Greek in speech but Turkish in sympathies and culture, in Crete. The exchange of these minorities was too often attended by cruel hardships, yet had they been left in their homes, surrounded by majorities still smarting from the bitter memories of a ruthless war, their lot would have been harder still. Exchange was a cruel surgery, but it did at least deal radically with a disease which had become malignant in spite of, or because of, the well-meant ministrations of Western statesmen. An English writer in Turkey describes the admirable work accomplished by the Mixed Commission of Greeks, Turks, and representatives of the League of Nations, who had to control the exchange of populations and to solve a multitude of problems to which it gave rise. One of these problems—the liquidation of the properties left behind by exchanged persons—was beyond their powers. It was not settled until June, 1930, when the Greek and Turkish Governments reached a direct agreement. By this time Greek and Turkish statesmen had come to realize that their interests lay in the future of the minorities. One of the most important of these was the Greek and Turkish minorities in the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. The Convention of 1928, which provided for the exchange of the Greek and Turkish minorities in the New Turkey and the New Greece, was a landmark in the history of the minorities. It was the first time that the minorities were treated as a problem of international law, and not as a problem of domestic politics. The Convention was a triumph for the League of Nations, and it was a triumph for the minorities. It was a triumph for the League of Nations, and it was a triumph for the minorities. It was a triumph for the League of Nations, and it was a triumph for the minorities.

ern Thrace, whose existence reminded them of their former conquests. Each desired to maintain a tradition, and perhaps was influenced by a political arrière-pensée; in each case the members of the minority suffered. But the signature of the Greco-Turkish understanding by Ismet Pasha and M. Venizelos greatly alleviated their lot. When fear and suspicion gave way to friendship and understanding the problem of the minorities ceased to be a problem. To-day both Governments are making an honest effort to treat them fairly, and petty official tyrants are no longer encouraged or permitted to display an excess of nationalist zeal at their expense. Thanks to the statesmen who have worked courageously and patiently for an understanding, the wounds left by history have healed or are fast healing. There are other Governments with minorities on their hands which might profitably study the causes of their success.

An Opposition Success
In Denmark.

Denmark has been one of the first foreign countries to show readiness to adjust itself to the new trade conditions created at Ottawa; and its peculiarly intimate commercial relations with Great Britain are illustrated by the fact that last year this country took no less than 67 per cent. of all Danish exports. The movements of political and economic thought within Denmark become therefore of more than usual interest at the present moment when abandonment of the long-cherished policy of free trade is being advocated by one of the chief parties in the State. In the elections to the Landtag, or Senate, the Conservatives based their appeal to the electorate on the necessity for a complete change in tariff policy as a result of the conclusions of the Ottawa Conference; and they captured a critical constituency from the Government. M. Stauning, the Socialist Prime Minister, was already in a minority in the Upper House, and it was generally supposed that if he did not more than hold his own there in the elections he would resign. He has done less for the majority against him will now be increased by two on a vote; and the probability therefore is that he will propose to the King a dissolution and a General Election. Not all after that formally the minority to the Government, but the Government will now be a minority in the Landtag, and the Government will now be a minority in the Landtag, and the Government will now be a minority in the Landtag.

past over the question of National Defence in Denmark, but since a compromise was reached on that question they have worked and voted together. Whether this unity would be maintained if tariffs became the main issue of a General Election does not appear certain; for there—as elsewhere—the Liberals have a rooted aversion from tariffs; and at present in Denmark the Liberals form a considerably larger party than the Conservatives. Both the two rival combinations, however—the Liberal-Conservative and the Radical-Socialist—seem to agree that it is to the interest of Denmark to remain within the family of pound-sterling nations; and the foreign exchange regulations enforced by the present Government for the sake of maintaining British imports at as high a level as possible have on the whole been well received. The Danish people seem determined to overcome the difficulties created for them by the new Ottawa duties; and a new trade treaty will no doubt be negotiated at the earliest opportune moment. In the meantime the British Exhibition exemplified the enlightened self-interest that draws the two countries economically and culturally together.

Tide Of Elections
Against HooverDemocratic Victories Are Significant

FARMERS. RESENTFUL

New York. A month ago political experts believed that President Hoover's re-election was likely. Now, however, there is a predominant tendency to favour the chances of Governor Roosevelt.

This is reflected in the Wall Street betting odds on the Presidential election.

Early in August the Wall Street betting was 2 to 1 in favour of President Hoover's re-election. Now only even money is offering on the outcome of the election. Many observers believe that Governor Roosevelt will finally be favourite in the Wall Street betting.

The two important factors in this change were the Democratic victory in the State elections of Maine last week, when a Democrat was elected State Governor and two-out of the three Maine seats in Congress went to Democrats, and the decision of Tammany, the great New York Democratic organisation, to support Governor Roosevelt.

Now that Tammany Hall has decided to back him, Governor Roosevelt is considered likely to carry the pivotal State of New York when the Electoral College meets to decide the next President of the United States. The New York State holds 47 votes at this meeting.

A Preliminary Poll. While Wall Street betting odds have nearly always provided an accurate forecast of the result of the Presidential election, more interesting still is the nation-wide poll taken before every election by the magazine "Literary Digest."

This poll is unique in its thoroughness and accuracy, millions of cards being sent out to people throughout the country.

I am informed that when the preliminary figures of this unofficial poll are published next week they will show that Governor Roosevelt is gaining a lead almost everywhere.

Another thing which leads me to believe in Roosevelt's chance of becoming the next President is the following personal telegram I have just received from a neutral observer who is accompanying the Democratic candidate on his tour of the West. This reads:

"Indications are that the States we have visited so far will vote for Roosevelt. Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, and Colorado look like safe bets for him."

"I have talked with at least a dozen Kansas farmers, who, while not too enthusiastic over Roosevelt, said nevertheless that they could not vote for Hoover. The farmers' resentment against the Republicans centres on what they contend are the slipshod methods of dealing with surpluses of food supplies, and also the high tariff introduced by the Republican administration."

"Most amazing of all, however, is the enmity created in farming communities by the widely circulated reports that President Hoover is an Englishman. The farmers want a native son of the soil. If they stopped to think which they do not, they would realise that Hoover is native-born and must be, or be could not constitutionally be President of the United States."

Popular Name. "A significant feature of the trip is the support which Roosevelt is mustering in the rural regions where the name of Roosevelt is highly popular."

"Governor Roosevelt has kept the Prohibition question in the background so far."

"The fact is that the people out here in the West seem vitally concerned about keeping a step ahead of the sheriff, and place most confidence in Roosevelt's plans for economic rehabilitation. They are worrying about how to eat rather than drink."

Miss Marion Davies, the little blonde film star, who said in prize-fight that she would support Roosevelt, is in the West, and is expected to arrive in California.

Hearst is supporting the Democrats throughout the country in this campaign.

Miss Marion Davies has long been associated with film interests in which Mr. Hearst is interested, and popularity with cinema "fans" will be capitalised to call attention in a striking way to Governor Roosevelt, and thus reach the cinema-minded voters, who will be attracted by Miss Davies' personality more than they ever would be by cogent political arguments.

Miss Marion Davies, who visited London in 1930 to make a personal appearance at the Empire Theatre when her film, "The Gay Nineties" was shown there, has already been named chairman of a committee of film stars which will play an important part in Governor Roosevelt's reception in California.

Wall-Street "Scandal." Meanwhile a scandal of considerable proportions is brewing in Wall Street over alleged stock market manipulation for political purposes. Senator Smith Brookhart, a Republican from Iowa, has announced that he is planning a Senatorial investigation before election day.

The attention of the U.S. Senate was attracted to Wall Street by the recent charge made by Mr. Louis Seibold, the political writer, that professional stock market operators would contribute heavily to the election campaign funds of the Republican Party from the proceeds of the manipulation of stock dealing.

The Governors of the New York Stock Exchange, evidently trying to forestall official investigation, have asked all members to submit copies of their telegrams or letters having any reference to political matters.

It is noteworthy that since this request was made, all brokers' letters to clients have been absolutely purged of any reference whatever to politics.

The market itself found its feet after the break early in the week, and is now steady and expected to hold firm until the election.

Mr. Edward Flene, the million-dollar manufacturer of Boston, predicted last week, however, that there would be a serious crash in Wall Street immediately before the election. He did not give his reasons for this belief. Many people believe that if this slump occurs just before the election, Governor Roosevelt is likely to win.

In such a case operators in the New York Stock Exchange would load their holdings heavily, causing a crash. This will occur, because Wall Street adheres fundamentally to Republican principles and fears the Democrats.

There is some uneasiness about the situation in financial circles. Apparently many brokers fear that the recent rise in values was more rapid than was warranted by the country's basic condition, although business actually improved last week while the market dropped back.

LITTLE LOOT FOR
CAREFUL THIEFWoman Found Bound
When Aid Comes

A gold finger ring and four Hong Kong dollars was the only loot from what was obviously a well-planned robbery committed at Wanchai early yesterday afternoon.

A man who gave the name of Chan went to a building in Lockhart Road, and depositing it in a safe, he returned to his car.

Later in the day the landlady of the building, Mrs. Chan, was informed that her tenant, Chan, was missing. She immediately telephoned the police, and a search was made for him.

Chan was found in a room in the building, bound and gagged. He was taken to the hospital, and the police are now searching for the robbers.

Blame For Strife Rests on Japan

Mr. Wang Ching-wei's Farewell Message

CHINA'S FAITH IN LEAGUE

Mr. Wang Ching-wei, President of the Executive Yuan, who sailed from Hong Kong for Europe on Tuesday in order to enter the Tropical Disease Institute at Hamburg, has released a remarkable farewell message dealing principally with the League Report.

The following is a translation of Mr. Wang's statement:—

"1. In submitting its case against Japan before the League of Nations, the Chinese Government has adopted a course which was at once logical and legitimate. For the Covenant of the League is really the one law of nations which it is incumbent upon both member States and other adherents of the League to respect and obey, and it is only through general observance of this Covenant by the various States that peace of the world can be preserved. It being its consistent aim to preserve such peace, the Chinese Government has therefore submitted this case to the League which is responsible for the safeguarding of peace.

"2. It is the responsibility of the League to enforce the Covenant. The various resolutions which the League has adopted ever since China's submission of this case have likewise been based upon this cardinal principle, that it is incumbent upon the League to enforce its Covenant. The purpose of appointing and despatching the Commission of Inquiry is to investigate the facts of the case and to ascertain the responsibility in the matter.

Report Impartial.

"3. The report of the Commission, both in its presentation of facts and in its observations on the cause and effect of the Manchurian affair, is both lucid and impartial. Its recognition of the premeditated nature of Japan's plan in deliberately violating China's territorial integrity in line with her aggressive policies is particularly clear and unmistakable. It is a point for which the Commission deserves our profound admiration for its impartiality and unrelenting efforts. It is regrettable, however, that the measures of settlement, as suggested by the Commission, seem to be not always consistent with the facts which it has so lucidly presented.

"4. From the tone of the wording of the Report, it is clear that the Commission has laid the whole responsibility, legal, political and moral, upon Japan. The Commission, in fact, clearly recognizes Japan's past activities and designs in Manchuria as the main source of complications and disturbances in the Far East. It has also stated in an unmistakable way that it considers the so-called 'Manchukuo' as merely a puppet organization hatched by the Japanese military. In spite of all these, the Commission hesitates however to hold Japan wholly responsible for the present crisis, but, on the other hand, has been at great pains, by circumlocution, to put forth the so-called peaceful measures of settlement.

Test of Power.

"Should these recommendations of the Commission be accepted by the League in their entirety, it would only serve to show that though not lacking in impartiality of observation and sympathy towards right and justice, its power is, however, not strong enough to uphold such cause. In such an eventuality, not only would the peace of the world be left without any safeguard, but it would also be impossible to attain what the League has considered to be its main mission, namely, prevention and solution of international complications.

"For the sake of the future of world peace, China has to call the serious attention of the world to this important point.

"5. What our people should give their most serious consideration to now is how to cope with the question confronting us today. War? or Peace?

"If the former course is adopted, we must recover by force what Japan has by force wrested from us. This is to seek justice through force.

"If the alternate course is adopted, the most important step would be to accept the sympathy which the League has shown towards us but to seek rectification of its weakness and enhance its power in order that we may yet achieve the final triumph.

Unity Essential.

"It should be emphasized, however, that whichever course is adopted, it is essential that the Government and the people must be firmly united. Without unity, the policy of peace would easily become an indiscriminate vociferation of high-sounding but meaningless principles, devoid of any practical value; while to resort to war without first achieving a united front among ourselves would only hasten our own ruin.

"This lack of unity, has been perhaps the cause of all our past failures, and we will have gained inestimably if we can only shun this fatal track hereafter.

"6. In union lies strength; and in unity and co-operation lies salvation. Not only between our comrades, but between the Government and the people, between the Central and local authorities, unity and harmony should be the cardinal principle. Internecine strife between different local factions arising out of conflict of interests is especially to be discontinued. Those who do not hesitate to incur the opprobrium of being the aggressors (in civil war) are only hastening their own extinction."—Kuo Min.

CONSECRATION OF NEW BISHOP.

Simultaneous Service In Hong Kong.

The Rev. Ronald Owen Hall, Bishop designate of Victoria, Hong Kong will be consecrated in St. Paul's Cathedral, London to-day, which is the Feast of St. Simon and St. Jude. Simultaneously, Choral Evensong and Intercession for the Diocese will be held at St. John's Cathedral at 5.30 p.m. this evening, and will conclude when the consecration service in London will commence at 10.30 a.m. (Greenwich time).

Holy Communion was celebrated at the Cathedral at 7.45 and 10 a.m. to-day and at St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon at 7 a.m.

A Mandate authorising the consecration was issued by H.M. the King on September 14. The Rev. Hall, Vicar of St. Luke's Church, Newcastle, who succeeds the Rt. Rev. C. R. Duppuy, D.D., was appointed on July 30 this year. He and his wife and family are expected to arrive in the Colony in a few weeks, and will be enthroned at St. John's Cathedral.

The new Bishop is well acquainted with international problems common to China, having been in Shanghai about 7 years ago, when, in collaboration with T. Z. Koo, he organised a series of meetings to create better fellowship between Britons and Chinese.

He is a scholar of Brasenose College, Oxford, and was ordained a Priest in 1921.

CANTON DRIVE FOR ARMY SUPPLIES.

Committee Trying To Find Equipment.

A committee has been selected with a view to arranging a number of social functions in Canton to raise funds for the equipping of the North-Eastern Volunteer forces.

The first meeting in connection with the proposal took place yesterday in the Canton Kuomintang Bureau, and Messrs. Wong Pui-chai, Chung Kai-fuen, Lai Po-kam, Chang Hon-man and Kong Ching-pak were elected as the standing committee.

Among the suggested methods of raising funds is a proposed football game between Hong Kong and Canton selected teams and also a fine arts exhibition. A mass procession through the streets of Canton has also been suggested, together with a general gala day in the early days of November.

CHILD VANISHES FROM JUNK.

Parents Fear Little Girl Drowned.

What is believed to be a drowning tragedy has been reported to the Police from Aberdeen, the victim being a small Chinese girl, aged three.

Lo Shing-kyong, master of a boat, reported that yesterday morning he went with his wife and other members of the family to the rear of the boat to prepare the morning meal, leaving the girl asleep in the hold amidst. When he returned to call her, she was missing. There was no sign of the child's body, nor was any outcry heard.

The child is believed to have fallen overboard unperceived.

FIRE TRUCK HITS CHINESE GIRL.

Woman Victim Of Street Mishap.

Two minor traffic accidents were notified to the Police authorities yesterday.

A Chinese woman, Ho So, 42, sustained injuries to her legs through being knocked down by a motor car on Des Voeux Road, near Hill Road, when she was taken to the Government Civil Hospital. A Summing Officer, Queen's Bench, is now dealing with the case.

Rioting Quelled At Hyde Park

Such large crowd awaited them that police had to force a way for them to places where the meetings were to be held. There many speakers mounted on carts addressed the crowd.

In the main, proceedings were orderly and good tempered, although minor disturbances occurred outside the Park, near Marble Arch, where police had to draw batons and clear the road of unruly elements who had started throwing stones.

Half a dozen police and demonstrators received minor injuries and several on-lookers were hurt through pressure of the crowd.

After their meeting, the main body of marchers left Hyde Park in an orderly fashion. They had remained listening to the speakers and had taken no part in the disorder outside the Park.

Adjournment Asked.

In the House of Commons, the Leader of the Opposition, Mr. George Lansbury, suggested that time might be saved on the remaining stages of the Ottawa Agreements Bill if unemployment could be discussed at once. The Prime Minister undertook that, if possible, this should be done.

Other Labour members requested leave to move adjournment of the House to discuss this subject in view of the arrival of the unemployed demonstrators in London.

The speaker said he was unable to accept the motion, as the Government had promised to bring in a Bill dealing with the Means Test which dealt with the unemployment problem as well. He advised the Labour members that the correct course was the presentation of a petition to the House of Commons asking permission for a deputation of the unemployed marchers to appear at the bar of the House of Commons to present their case.

This advice is being followed and the petition will be presented early next week—Reuter and British Wireless Service.

SCIENCE LENGTHENS LIVES OF MAN.

Sir George Newman Talks On "Health."

BATTLE WITH DISEASE.

Sir George Newman, the Chief Medical Officer of the Ministry of Health, in a broadcast said that, looking back over 100 years, it was quite apparent that a change had been taking place in the health of the English people.

The annual death-rate had declined from twentyone per thousand of the population to twelve per thousand in the last fifty years. This had taken place despite an increase in population from 24,000,000 to 40,000,000, and in spite of the hustling and restless life we lived, and in spite of the fact that most of our food supply came from outside this country.

"Infant death-rate has, in fact, been halved in the last twenty-five years," he continued. "Then same can be said of tuberculosis, and the decline in mortality from small-pox, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, and diphtheria, has been greater still."

"All this means that life is longer for the population under 50. A child born in England to-day has an expectation of life fifteen years longer than that of a child born fifty years ago.

"It is these facts which make it true to say that never before the English people enjoyed the measure of national health which they have to-day."

Defeating Disease. Sir George said that the meaning of the figures he had quoted meant that life was longer and less impaired by sickness and disease. In spite of the low birth-rate the English people were surviving, and many diseases were being steadily defeated. Health and physical capacity was increasing, and death was being postponed.

"We are not yet masters of our fate," he said. "We are still faced with grave issues. Maternal mortality is unreasonably high, diphtheria too prevalent, and dental decay almost universal. Yet all three are to a large extent preventable."

"During the last twenty years 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 people had been re-accommodated, in modern sanitary houses, and this greatly improved their chances of health."

Referring to food, Sir George said that there had been an extraordinary improvement. In 1881 10,000,000 cwt. of oranges were eaten, more than four times the number of apples and tomatoes, and more than seven times the quantity of bananas than in 1901. Along with this growing preference for fruit had gone a higher degree of moderation in regard to alcoholic drinks—Air Mail.

LENIN'S LESSONS IN ENGLAND.

Mr. Maxton Warns Labour School.

Mr. James Maxton M. P. addressed the I.L.P. Summer School at Caerleon on the subject of lessons to be drawn from Lenin recently. He admitted that up to date the word "failure" against the progress which had been made towards a new social order. They were now starting a new page in the history of the movement. God's own Englishman had to display a little more intellectual humility and take a real international view. There could be no doubt that, in the technique of Socialism, Russia had made a contribution which required most earnest and strict examination.

Mr. Maxton warned his hearers against trying to assume that they could play Lenin's role. "A Lenin only occurs once in centuries," said Mr. Maxton. "Indeed a Lenin has never occurred before in the history of mankind, and the probability is that he will not occur again."

In all countries which had a Parliamentary democracy there was a tremendous desire to be with the majority; a tremendous belief that the majority vote decided what was right and what was wrong. That was the centre of their dispute with the Labour party.

"We are not going to remain a permanent minority," said Mr. Maxton, "and when we join the majority it will be a Socialist majority, and a revolutionary Socialist majority. It is the easiest thing in the world for a politician to go with the majority. Some of my friends have said to me that there are some people who would rather reign in hell than keep a door in heaven. There are a whole lot more people in the world who do not know which is heaven and which is hell. They are holding a door in hell under the impression that they are reigning in heaven."

"That applies to some of my former colleagues who are now sitting in glided state in high positions in the land, believing they are right there and on the top of things, whereas they are merely messenger boys for the legions of the lost and the cohorts of the damned."

RASPUTIN'S TRIAL DOCUMENTS.

The original court records of the trial of the famous Russian priest, Rasputin, have just been purchased by the well-known Leipzig firm of Karl W. Hiersemann.

These tremendously interesting documents comprise 280 pages of testimonials of various kinds by many of them belonging to the now extinct Russian nobility, and all originally signed by them. These documents are of great value to the student of Russian history, and have been purchased by a German firm, who was the first to buy them.

SNATCH THIEF TO BE BIRCHED.

Chinese Gets Additional Prison Sentence.

Sentence of four months' hard labour with 12 strokes of the birch was passed on Li Ming, 21, when he was convicted by Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning, on a charge of the theft of a handbag containing $12, the property of Mrs. F. Haighland, of 6 East Point Terrace, Causeway Bay.

Mrs. Haighland was shopping in Queen's Road Central at the time when the incident occurred. The thief snatched the bag and ran along Queen's Road, up Aberdeen Street, then along Wallington Street, and was finally caught by a Chinese detective at the junction of Wallington Street and Queen's Road Central. The detective, who was on duty at the time, caught the thief while he was running. Sergeant Reilly was in charge of the investigation.

VILLA SUPREMACY CHALLENGED

ARSENAL AT HOME TO LEICESTER.

Pompey Visit League Champions.

CUP HOLDERS AWAY.

St. Mirren v Celtic "Tit Bit" Of Scottish League.

ASTON VILLA, who emerged victorious in their first "derby" of the season when opposed to Birmingham at Villa Park last Saturday, will be severely challenged by their neighbours "The Thistles" to-morrow. This second "derby" in quick succession may break the Villa's sequence of successes, and if Cookson and Gladden are on form everything points to an Albion victory, and the downfall of the Villa before a Birmingham crowd after eleven matches in which they have eluded defeat.

The Villa will, however, zealously guard their unbeaten record, especially in view of the fact that the Arsenal (only one point behind them) are at home to Leicester City and should win fairly comfortably.

Leicester held the League champions to a draw, but they are not expected to offer serious opposition to the much improved Arsenal team. The League champions are at home to Pompey and a battle royal is expected when Dixie Dean, holder of the League record of 60 goals in a season, will meet his old friend Worrall. Citchley has been showing good form for the champions and an Everton win is anticipated, though Rutherford may find his shooting boots to give Pompey their twentieth win of the season.

NEWCASTLE the Cup holders, routed the Albion last week, but they will find in the Wednesday afternoon opposition. The Sheffield side are staging a comeback at the moment and not even the Wolves on their own ground could stem the tide of their success. Newcastle are, however, a formidable side and Boyd is at the present right on the spot. A draw should be the ultimate result.

Chelsea should compensate for their home defeat at the hands of Derby when they visit Blackpool where Gallagher should be able to reap a harvest of goals against the weak home defence.

ANOTHER London "derby" will be the feature of the Southern section of the Third Division when Crystal Palace will come to grips with Brentford, who are the only unbeaten team in the five leagues, with the exception of the Villa. Last week Brentford won narrowly over Southend while the Palace were hard pressed to defeat Torquay by the odd goal. Brentford have dropped only one home point this season—to Bournemouth—and with Holliday and Robson in magnificent shooting form there seems little doubt of a home win in this game.

In spite of Reading's position in the table there is every possibility of a Newport success. It is true that the County, lost to Brentford by the large margin of 6 to 1 on their own ground earlier in the season, but since then they have dropped only one home point, and last week they surprised Cardiff in an away win. Though losing in a surprising manner last Saturday, Cardiff should win to-morrow against Luton who drew there last home match with Newport.

THE big match of the Northern section will undoubtedly be that between Gateshead and Crewe Alexandra on the former's ground. On present form Gateshead have a small advantage in the fact that they will be playing before their own supporters and that Kennedy and Laird have regained their lost form. Crewe are, however, dour fighters and with a faint chance of promotion they will be all out to divide the spoils if they accomplish no better.

Chester, Accrington and Southport have all difficult tasks ahead of them, but Accrington will be the only uncertainty in their away game against Barnsley. Andrews, the home marksman who is at the peak of his form and who has even been offered a position in a First Division side, will be a source of worry to the Accrington half-backs.

THE Scottish League presents an interesting programme with the St. Mirren-Celtic match the game of the day. Though Celtic succeeded in lowering Motherwell's colours on Saturday the St. Mirren forwards inspire great confidence. Celtic are a much improved side since last season when they concluded the season in third place, but they have still something lacking, and the St. Mirren forwards are expected to find that weak link.

The Rangers will encounter stern opposition from Kilmarnock, who were able to force the Celtic to a draw on the latter's ground, but McPhail, Morton and Smith are expected to register a Glasgow success. Aberdeen, who are leading the table with the Celtic, have a comfortable home fixture against the Academicals while the Hearts, who are meeting with great success this season, should be able to gain the verdict over Falkirk on the latter's ground.

Motherwell are expected to beat Partick Thistle after their defeat last Saturday. The Thistle side are not, however, overawed by their opponents as the result of an overwhelming win over Ayr last Saturday by seven clear goals, but they cannot hope for better than a division of spoils on Motherwell's ground.

Overland China Mail.

A WHOLE WEEK'S NEWSPAPERS IN ONE.

An 11-year-old boy, Chau Kwok-ming, son of Dr. Chau, 7, Lincoln Road, Kowloon Tong, was fatally injured on the afternoon of October 23 when struck on the head by a falling boulder on the steep ascent of Beacon Hill.

The five companions of the dead boy came back from the hills on October 24, a police rescue party bearing with them the body of their young companion.

Police tell of the desperate efforts of the hikers to get aid for their injured friend during the night, of how one of their number made his way to Sham Shui Po police station and led a party of officers back into the hills in an attempt to find his companions. They hunted throughout the night without avail. A full story of the tragedy is given in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

The failure of the favourites in the Queensland Handicap for Australian ponies was the greatest surprise feature of the race-meeting held at the Valley on October 22. Evening Star, ridden by Mr. S. N. Pan, started one of the hottest favourites of the day, and was forced into third place by two very mediocre mounts ridden by Messrs. A. W. da Roza and Y. T. Fung.

Deputising for Gleneagles, Mr. L. Dunbar's Liberty Bay, making its first appearance since winning the Hong Kong Derby, made a splendid showing in the Sixth Aggregate Stakes, beating Sadko by two and a half lengths. Mr. L. Reidy's Bag and Baggage, who has been one of the most conspicuous ponies in important races this season cracked up badly and finished last in a field of four.

The meeting is fully reported in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Within a very brief space of time on October 20, the Legislative Council completed an agenda which included items of business which will make history in the Colony. In the first place the Council gave first reading to the "Ordinance to secure increased trade between the Colony and the Empire." Thus Hong Kong takes its part in the Imperial Preference Plan, conceived at Ottawa, and in which every portion of the Empire takes some part.

"This Bill," said Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C., Attorney-General, "arises out of the recent Imperial Conference at Ottawa."

It passed first reading without discussion. The preferential tariff ordinance imposes a duty of 25 per cent. on all foreign-made automobiles or motor vehicles registered in the Colony.

The proceedings are reported in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Warder Maurice Friend, 36, attached to the Lai Chi Kok Prison, was found dead at 6.30 o'clock on October 24, with a bullet wound through his head, outside the Single Men's Quarters, Lai Chi Kok. Suicide is suspected. Warder Friend was found by the officers lying outside the bathroom door. He was dressed in white shirt and white shorts and there was a bullet wound in the right temple. The body was removed to the Kowloon Public Mortuary.

A story is given in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL. The victorious Interport Lawn Bowls team, were feted on October 14, at a dinner given by the Hong Kong Lawn Bowls Association. The guests of the evening were Messrs. B. W. Bradbury, A. O. Brown, J. C. Brown, G. L. Buchanan, H. Hampton, R. S. Nichol and U. M. Omar. "Our Interport Bowlers," was given by Mr. A. L. Shields, vice president, who said he esteemed it a great honour to be in the chair and to express congratulations to their President and the Hong Kong Interport Lawn Bowls team on their victory in Shanghai. Lawn Bowlers he ventured to state were mostly modest men who played the game for the game's sake.

There is no phase of the life of the Colony or of China that does not receive attention in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL — the weekly paper that YOU MUST ORDER NOW.

FRIENDLY FEELING FOR EGYPT.

Great Britain Sure Of Understanding.

London, To-day.
Asked whether he could make any statement as to the relations existing between the British Government and the present Government of Egypt, and whether the latter is one with which these relations may be developed in the direction of a settlement of the outstanding questions between them, Foreign Under-Secretary Capt. Anthony Eden in the House of Commons yesterday stated he was happy to say the relations with the Egyptian Government were entirely friendly.

The British Government had made no reservations in regarding the present Egyptian Administration as one with which the Anglo-Egyptian relations have been and may continue to be developed, at a time and in a manner which appear most suitable for the purpose.—British Wireless Service.

CONCUBINAGE NOW ADULTERY.

China Divorce Laws
Radical Change.

Nanking, Oct. 18.
To take concubines amounts to adultery in the eyes of the Law and is therefore a legal ground for divorce.

This important ruling has been rendered by the Committee for the Uniform Interpretation of Laws and Ordinances under the Judicial Yuan.

It is pointed out that concubines enjoy no legal status under the new Chinese Civil Code. For a man to keep concubines amounts, therefore, to adultery and his wife may obtain a divorce in accordance with article 1052 of the Chinese Civil Code, which makes adultery a ground for divorce. It would also constitute a cogent ground for judicial separation, within the meaning of article 1010 of the Code. Where, however, concubines are taken with the express or tacit consent of the wife, she would be debarred from obtaining a divorce on this ground, though she may use for judicial separation. Allimony will follow in either event.

It is expected that this ruling will contribute greatly towards the elimination of the practice of concubinage, which still prevails in certain parts of the country, and against which the modern Chinese woman has been agitating.—Kuo Min.

GREEK SAILORS IN RIOT.

Amsterdam, Oct. 20.
Twenty Greek sailors assaulted and seriously injured the local Greek Consul and his staff, following the Consul's refusal to comply with a number of demands presented by the sailors. The enraged men hurled all kinds of missiles at the consular staff and poured ink on the Secretary. Five of them, including the ringleader who is a well-known Greek Communist, were arrested.—Trans Ocean Kuo, Min.

A Held By Employee.
Prosecuting Mr. O. E. C. Marton said that the 1.50 p.m. Peak tram was proceeding down to town yesterday and when about 100 yards below the Barker Road Station, the brakesman saw a man, wearing a white topie, walking down the line. At that point there is a curve to the left of the line and the brakesman could only see the man's topie. He rang the bell loudly enough for the defendant to hear, but the latter paid no heed and walked on.

When about 10 or 15 yards away from him the brakesman rang the "danger" bell and tram was brought to a standstill. The man ran on to a concrete platform and then jumped into the bushes at the side. He was caught by a tram employee and taken to Gough Hill Police Station.

Mr. Marton, in pointing out the seriousness of the offence, said that an accident resulting from these obstructions through unauthorised people walking on the track, could cause the cable to be twisted very badly. Injury to passengers might also be suffered in consequence of a sudden stoppage. No damage was done in this case, said Marton, but his Worship would appreciate the fact that it might have cost the Peak Tramway Company quite a lot of money.

The defendant pleaded guilty and said that as it was his first visit to the Peak he was unaware of the fact that people were not allowed to walk on the track. There were no notices to that effect.

The Magistrate agreed that that was so, but added that defendant was supposed to know the law. He imposed a fine of $70, pointing out the seriousness of the offence, and the loss of life that might have been involved through the sudden application of the emergency brakes.

RAIN LATER.

The weather report issued from the Royal Observatory to-day states:—

The anti-cyclone is moving eastward and is now centred over Japan. The typhoon has again recurved and is situated in the western part of the Balingang Channel, moving westward.

Forecast:—N. winds, fresh to strong; fair at first; cloudy, with rain later.

GREAT OFFENSIVE AGAINST REDS.

Nanchang, Oct. 18.

It is announced that a general offensive against the "Red" bandits in the Kiangsi-Kwangtung-Fukien border regions will shortly be launched by the 19th Route Army and the Kwangtung Provincial forces respectively under Generals Tsai Ting-kai and Chen Chi-tang. The 78th Division under General Au Shou-nien attached to the 19th Route Army is to attack the brigands along the central route and the 56th. Fukien Division under General Liu Ho-ting from the left wing. The 1st Kwangtung Independent Division under General Huang Jen-huan will constitute the right wing forces.

The ranks of the "Reds" are torn by dissension. The outlaw units under Chu Te and Mao Tse-tung are reported to be fighting those under Lo Ping-hui near Wanan district in western Kiangsi, where large quantities of loot are hidden. Lo, who recently occupied the area, has refused to move.

The 50th Division under General Yo Sen has destroyed an arms depot of the "Reds" at Hengchi, western Kiangsi, and seized several hundred rifles.—Kuo Min.

TREASURY OFFICER AIDS COMMITTEE.

Mr. Frederick Phillips
Posted To Vacancy.

London, To-day.
Mr. Frederick Phillips, under-secretary of the Treasury Department, has been selected as successor of Sir Walter Layton, British financial wizard who recently resigned from his post on the committee of preparation for the forthcoming World Economic Conference.

Mr. Phillips is another of Great Britain's economic experts, and his views coincide with those of his Government.

Sir Walter resigned his post when he discovered that his own beliefs and the principles on which he was instructed to work by the Government, were incompatible. While he agreed with many of the Government's plans, he said, he could not support its trade policies.

PRINCESS HELEN SENDS HER KING AN ULTIMATUM.

The King's quarrel with his brother, however, whose marriage to a commoner he forbade, and which resulted in his Majesty getting punched on the nose by the younger Prince, appears to have been settled. But the dispute with his wife, the Princess Helen, which has been waged over Crown Prince Michael's custody, still rages. So far as the London episode is concerned, the better British newspapers condemned the fashion of publicity given the Rumanian heir when he visited his mother.
